

SHOTLEY BRIDGE DIRECTORY

Providing information on community facilities, clubs and groups in the village and at Snod's Edge.

Shotley, derived from 'Sceatleah' in Old English, means a "strip of cultivated land within a clearing in a forest" and was first mentioned in the 14th century, in association with corn milling. It was not until the 17th century that the village existed, following the settlement of the German Swordmakers from Solingen.

In the 19th century a spa was developed beside the River Derwent.

Today, Shotley Bridge has become a largely residential village on the edge of Consett, within easy commuting distance of Durham, Hexham and Newcastle. The village has some impressive architecture within its conservation area, related to its history.

The Village Trust is a registered charity which aims to improve the environment in the village and promote a high standard of development, whether in new buildings or the renovation and alteration of existing property. We aim to secure the protection and improvement of features of historic interest and encourage an interest in the history of the village and surrounding areas.

The committee meets regularly and every four months holds an Open Meeting in Our Lady of the Rosary Church Hall for members and guests to raise and discuss issues arising in the village. We circulate a newsletter to members before each meeting.

In 2016 the Village Trust published a booklet on the history of the village and its people. This is available to purchase at Harrington Brown estate agents in the village or online from the Trust via ebay.

For more information about the Trust and our Open Meetings, or if you wish to use the village notice board near Rumi's, please contact us:-
